Philippe Rogge

CEO Vodafone Germany
and Member of the Vodafone Group
Executive Committee

Philippe Rogge (born 1969) has been CEO of Vodafone Germany and member of the Vodafone Group Executive Committee since 1 July 2022.

Philippe joins Vodafone after more than a decade with Microsoft, including his most recent role of President, Central and Eastern Europe during his last five years there. Based in Munich, he led sales, channels and marketing, and accelerated the company's annual growth to double digits. His global career at Microsoft included senior roles such as Chief Operating Officer China, General Manager Belgium and Luxembourg and General Manager Portugal. Previously, Philippe held various functional leadership roles during an eight-year tenure with Belgacom Group (now known as Proximus).

He holds a master's degree in business economics from Ghent University, a master's degree in management from the Vlerick School of Management and completed the Advanced Management Programme, which is part of the INSEAD Executive Education Programme.

Born in Ghent and married with two children, Philippe is a former professional yachtsman.
