

Jens Schulte-Bockum

Chief Executive Officer

Jens Schulte-Bockum (born 1966) was appointed Chief Executive Officer of Vodafone Germany on 1 October 2012. Prior to that, he held the function of Chief Operating Officer at Vodafone Germany.

Jens Schulte-Bockum joined the Vodafone Group in 2003 as Corporate Strategy Director. From 2005 onwards, Schulte-Bockum was responsible for all Vodafone Group terminal marketing operations as Global Director Terminals. In 2008, he was named as CEO of Vodafone Netherlands, where he remained until his move to the Vodafone Germany Executive Committee. In the Netherlands, he was responsible for 3,500 employees providing services to five million customers.

Before joining Vodafone, Schulte-Bockum was employed at the international management consultancy firm, McKinsey, where he ran the Hamburg Office.

Jens Schulte-Bockum was born in Bottrop-Kirchhellen/Germany. He studied in Kiel/Germany, Chicago/USA and Atlanta/USA, gaining a German Master's equivalent in economics at Kiel, followed by a Master in Economics at Chicago. Schulte-Bockum also studied Liberal Arts at the Emory University in Atlanta. He is married with four daughters.

Media contact:

Vodafone Press Office
Corporate Communications +49 (0) 211 533-5500
presse@vodafone.com

Further information:

vodafone.de/presse
blog.vodafone.de twitter.com/vodafone_medien